

University of Arkansas System Campus / Unit Listing

The University of Arkansas System maintains a decentralized IT function at 21 different locations. Below is the listing of those locations.

Universities (7)

- University of Arkansas, Fayetteville (UAF)

Founded in 1871, the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, is the flagship institution of the University of Arkansas System. Located in Fayetteville, the U of A is the state's foremost partner, resource and catalyst for education and economic development. The U of A is a flagship university for the integration of student engagement, scholarship, research and innovation that collectively transforms lives and inspires leadership for a global society.

As Arkansas's land-grant university, the U of A has a mandate to teach, conduct research and perform outreach. The university offers 220 baccalaureate, master's, doctoral, professional and specialist degree programs through its 10 schools and colleges. The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching places the U of A in its highest research category, making it the state's only doctoral-granting, research university with a very high level of research activity and one of only 108 schools in the country with that distinction. Research expenditures at the university now exceed $123 million per year, making research activity a significant academic element at the university and an economic engine for the state.

- University of Arkansas at Little Rock (UA Little Rock)

The University of Arkansas at Little Rock, located in the state's capital city, offers a comprehensive academic experience at the baccalaureate, master's and doctoral levels; innovative research opportunities; a quality faculty educated from around the world; and a rich student life experience with athletics, housing, study abroad, Greek life and service learning.

Student success is the university's top priority and not just for our 18- to 25-year-olds. From high school students and traditional residential and graduate degree seekers, to mid-life adults and senior citizens, UA Little Rock fulfills one of the state's greatest needs by educating more college graduates. UA Little Rock's caring faculty and staff in programs such as the Academic Success Center and the Mentoring Network provide students with extra help to be successful.

The Carnegie Foundation has selected UA Little Rock for the Advancement of Teaching for the Community Engagement classification – one of only two institutions in Arkansas in this category. The university is widely recognized for its involvement in community issues such as race and ethnicity, criminal justice and pre-kindergarten to 12th grade education. UA Little Rock students, faculty and staff are actively involved in service-learning activities around the state through partnerships with the Clinton School of Public Service and the Shepherd Higher Education Consortium on Poverty.

- University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences (UAMS)

The University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences in Little Rock is the only academic health sciences university in the state of Arkansas. It is the state's largest public employer with more than 10,000 employees in 73 of the state's 75 counties. UAMS and its clinical affiliates, Arkansas Children's Hospital and the Central Arkansas Veterans Healthcare System, are an economic engine for the state with an annual economic impact of $3.92 billion.

UAMS offers 64 baccalaureate, master's, doctoral, professional and specialist degree programs through its Colleges of Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy, Health Professions and Public Health and Graduate School. Students attend classes at the UAMS main campus in Little Rock and its regional campus in Fayetteville.

With its combination of education, research and clinical programs, UAMS has a unique capacity to lead health care improvement in the state. Its assets include a statewide network of area health education centers, a comprehensive rural hospital program, the Translational Research Institute, the Winthrop P. Rockefeller Cancer Institute, the Jackson T. Stephens Spine & Neurosciences Institute, the Donald W. Reynolds Institute on Aging, the Harvey & Bernice Jones Eye institute, and the Psychiatric Research Institute.

- University of Arkansas at Monticello (UAM)

Founded in 1909 as the Fourth District Agricultural School, the University of Arkansas at Monticello (UAM) is one of the region's few remaining open admissions universities. Serving southeast Arkansas, UAM offers 30 baccalaureate and six master's degree programs. Additionally, the university offers seven two-year associate degrees and 15 technical certificates through its Colleges of Technology in Crossett and McGehee.

UAM has established a reputation for academic excellence in areas such as forest resources, nursing, teacher education, pre-medicine, health-related sciences, business and social science. The university is home to the Arkansas Forest Resources Center and one of the South's top exercise physiology facilities. In recent years, UAM has added new opportunities to its curriculum, including popular programs in social work and criminal justice, a fast-track master's degree program to place more teachers in the classroom, and online master's degree programs in coaching, education, education leadership and creative writing.

- University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff (UAPB)

An 1890 land-grant institution, the University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff (UAPB) is the second-oldest public university and the only public historically black institution in Arkansas. The institution's historic mission is to teach in areas related to agriculture and the mechanical arts, as well as scientific and classical studies and help solve economic, agricultural and other problems in the community, state and region.

UAPB offers 33 undergraduate degrees, 8 master's degree and a PhD program in Aquaculture/Fisheries that is home to one of the country's leading programs that also supports Arkansas's $165 million aquaculture and baitfish industry. The university's bachelor degree program in regulatory science is a designated Center of Excellence by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Other areas of emphasis at UAPB include teacher education, business development and student leadership development and its NSF funded Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM) Academy.

- University of Arkansas at Fort Smith (UAFS)

The University of Arkansas at Fort Smith (UAFS) was created in 1928 as citizens responded to the need to establish an institution of higher education to improve the local workforce. UAFS continues that tradition today as a regional university with a mission and vision to connect education with careers and a focus on preparing students to succeed in an ever-changing global world while advancing economic development and quality of place.

UAFS is renewing the focus on workforce development. By offering certificates and two- and four-year degree programs, students are being prepared for careers in the "real world" in traditional and cutting-edge technological fields such as robotics, information science technology, and cyber security. New degrees, such as a program focusing on the latest relational database management systems, are being developed to keep pace with changing business and industry needs.

- University of Arkansas System eVersity (eVersity)

The University of Arkansas System eVersity is a 100 percent-online institution created by the UA Board of Trustees in March 2014 to serve students who are unable to access traditional higher education campuses. The core principles of the institution include providing high-quality courses, affordable tuition and workforce-relevant degree programs, along with promoting student success in programs.

The mission of eVersity is to provide high-quality, accessible, affordable, online education relevant to the modern workplace. Faculty from across the UA System develop and deliver rigorous certificate and degree programs that utilize rich data analytics to enhance student success and achievement. A commitment to continual improvement of the craft of teaching through practice and scholarship and to serving our public communities by providing timely, interesting and useful educational material are hallmarks of eVersity.

Two-Year Colleges (7)

- Phillips Community College of the University of Arkansas (PCCUA)

The first community college established in Arkansas, Phillips Community College of the University of Arkansas (PCCUA) is a multi-campus, two-year college serving Eastern Arkansas. Since its inception in 1964, the college has grown from an original enrollment of fewer than 250 students in 14 program areas to over 2,300 students in academic, occupational/technical and continuing education programs and offers 25 associate degree programs. PCCUA has campuses in DeWitt, Helena-W. Helena and Stuttgart.

- University of Arkansas Community College at Hope – Texarkana (UACCH-T)

Serving Southwest Arkansas, the University of Arkansas Community College at Hope (UACCH) offers the first two years of a traditional college education transferable to a four-year university, as well as an array of certificate programs to prepare students for an ever-changing workforce. UACCH is an accredited, open-access institution that connects students and community partners to quality education and supports a culture of academic, occupational, personal growth and enrichment programs throughout Southwest Arkansas. With the opening of UACCH-Texarkana Instructional facility in the Fall of 2012, UACCH is better prepared to be regional contributor to the educational needs of southwest Arkansas. Supported by a Hempstead County sales tax, UACCH offers over 46 degrees and certificates for students to select from.

- University of Arkansas Community College at Batesville (UACCB)

The University of Arkansas Community College at Batesville (UACCB) serves an eight-county area in northeast Arkansas, offering associate degrees, technical certificates, certificates of proficiency, adult education (GED and ESL) and kids' college. Accredited by the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, the campus has expanded program offerings and student services over the last five years in order to meet its student-focused mission. Supported by an Independence County sales tax, UACCB provides affordable access to technical education and college transfer programs that meet the diverse higher education needs of the citizens of north central Arkansas.

- Cossatot Community College of the University of Arkansas (CCCUA)

Cossatot Community College of the University of Arkansas (CCCUA) is located in De Queen with classroom sites in Nashville, Ashdown, Murfreesboro, Dierks and Foreman. The college offers both technical certification and associate's degrees and collaborates with other colleges and universities to offer bachelor's and master's degrees. Accredited by the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, CCCUA is the only community college in the state supported by sales taxes in three separate counties – Sevier, Howard and Little River.

- University of Arkansas Community College at Morrilton (UACCM)

The University of Arkansas Community College at Morrilton is a two-year institution offering a comprehensive curriculum of university-transfer and career-specific training programs as well as adult education, workforce training, and community outreach programs. UACCM operates four Adult Education Centers in Morrilton, Perryville, Conway, and Clinton.

- University of Arkansas Community College at Rich Mountain (UACCRM)

The University of Arkansas Community College at Rich Mountain, based in Mena, is a comprehensive, learning-centered community college providing a range of programs including transfer and technical degrees, workforce development and adult education, among others. Through its main campus and satellite location in Waldron, RMCC serves Ouachita Mountain Region with exemplary educational and enrichment opportunities to improve quality of life and economic advancement.

- University of Arkansas Pulaski Technical College (UAPTC)

University of Arkansas Pulaski Technical College (UAPTC) is a two-year technical college based in North Little Rock with a mission to serve its community's education needs through technical programs, university-based transfer programs and specialized programs for business and industry. Originally founded as a vocational-technical school, UAPTC has evolved through the years to meet the varying education needs of the citizens of Central Arkansas. In addition to its main campus in North Little Rock, the college has locations across Pulaski and Saline Counties.

Other Units (7)

- University of Arkansas System Office (System)

The University of Arkansas System administration includes vice presidents for finance, administration, academic affairs and university relations; the general counsel and associates; the internal audit department; the fringe benefits section; and support staff.

- Division of Agriculture (Agri)

The University of Arkansas System Division of Agriculture is the statewide research and extension agency serving Arkansas agriculture, communities, families and youth. The mission of the division is to discover new knowledge, incorporate it into practical applications and assist Arkansans in its application. With a presence in all 75 counties, the division is comprised of two principal units: the Agriculture Experiment Station and the Cooperative Extension Service. Division faculty and facilities are located on five university campuses, at five regional research and extension centers, eight branch stations and other locations. An extension office is located in each county in cooperation with county governments. The community of Arkansas agriculture impacts about 270,000 people whose jobs directly or indirectly depend on agriculture, including the forestry sector. The $9.6 billion they receive in wages is more than 15 percent of the state's total labor income. Agriculture accounts for more than $16 billion of value added to the state's economy and 12 percent of GDP, greater than any state in the region.

- Arkansas Archeological Survey (AAS)

The mission of the Arkansas Archeological Survey is to study and protect the 13,000-year archeological heritage of Arkansas, to preserve and manage information and collections from archeological sites and to communicate what is learned to the people of the state. The survey has 11 research stations across the state, each with a full-time Ph.D. archeologist associated with regional higher education institutions and state parks. The archeologists conduct research, assist other state and federal agencies and are available to local officials, amateur archeologists, landowners, educators and students in need of information about archeology or archeological sites.

- Criminal Justice Institute (CJI)

The Criminal Justice Institute (CJI) is a campus of the University of Arkansas System that serves a unique population of non-traditional students—certified law enforcement professionals who are actively employed within our state's police departments and sheriff's offices. The Institute is committed to making communities safer by supporting law enforcement professionals through training, education, resources and collaborative partnerships. Utilizing both classroom-based instruction and practical, hands-on application, CJI provides an educational experience designed to enhance the performance and professionalism of law enforcement in progressive areas of criminal justice, including law enforcement leadership and management, forensic sciences, computer applications, traffic safety, illicit drug investigations and school safety. In FY14, CJI delivered more than 270 courses in 61 locations to more than 9,000 officers and deputies across the state.

- Arkansas School for Mathematics, Sciences, and the Arts (ASMSA)

The Arkansas School for Mathematics, Sciences and the Arts (ASMSA) is the state's premier high school focusing on excellence in math, science and the arts. Located in Hot Springs, ASMSA is one of 15 public residential high schools in the United States specializing in the education of gifted and talented students who have an interest and aptitude for mathematics and science as well as a passion for creativity and the arts. All classes are taught at the college level, and the school offers nearly 60 courses for university credit. Through the school's College Bridge program, ASMSA graduates average 50 hours of college credit while finishing high school.

- University of Arkansas Clinton School of Public Service (Clinton School)

Located on the grounds of the William J. Clinton Presidential Center and Park in Little Rock, the University of Arkansas Clinton School of Public Service is the first graduate school in the nation to offer a Master of Public Service (MPS) degree, helping students further their careers in the areas of government, non-profit, volunteer and private sector service. As part of the school's unique curriculum, students complete three hands-on public service projects, including local work in Arkansas communities and international projects on six continents. The school also hosts a renowned public lecture series, featuring leaders in government, politics, foreign policy, journalism and philanthropy.

- The Winthrop Rockefeller Institute (WRI)

The Winthrop Rockefeller Institute (WRI) of the University of Arkansas System was established in July 2005 with a grant from the Winthrop Rockefeller Charitable Trust. The educational institute and conference center is located on Petit Jean Mountain near Morrilton, on the grounds of former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's cattle farm. The institute is a separate tax-exempt corporation with facilities leased to the university. Its mission is to serve as a catalyst for furthering the mission of the University of Arkansas and carrying on the legacy of Gov. Rockefeller by bringing together people of diverse ideas and interests to address subjects of state, regional, national and international importance.